

Anker Unveils New Lineup of High-speed USB-C Chargers, Exclusively on Apple

Delivering faster, safer, and more sustainable charging solutions

BELLEVUE, WA, UNITED STATES,
November 12, 2024 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Anker, the world's #1 charging brand, announced its new line of high-speed USB-C chargers will be available exclusively today on apple.com and select Apple retail locations worldwide. This collaboration underscores a shared commitment to sustainable innovation, with Anker's new chargers incorporating 75% post-consumer recycled plastics—demonstrating a significant step towards reducing environmental impact without compromising performance.

We're excited to partner with Apple in our mission to create high-performance, sustainable charging solutions. These new USB-C chargers represent our dedication to environmental responsibility.”

High-Speed Charging for Any Device

Anker's new chargers come in several different power capacities: 30W, 50W, 70W, 150W, and 240W, each designed to meet different charging needs and capable of charging a range of products such as Apple Watches, AirPods, iPads, MacBooks and more.

Smaller and More Eco-Friendly

Featuring GaN (Gallium Nitride) technology, these chargers offer faster charging speeds, reduced heat generation, and a more compact design compared to traditional silicon-based chargers. Additionally, they are built using 75% post-consumer recycled plastics in their casing and recyclable packaging, aligning with eco-conscious consumer preferences.

Safer Charging Experience

Equipped with a Dynamic Temperature Sensor and a Power Tuner Chip, these chargers actively monitor temperature and adjust power output to ensure the safety of connected devices.

"We're excited to partner with Apple in our mission to create high-performance, sustainable charging solutions," said Shaun Xiong, General Manager of Charging & Member of the board of directors, Anker. "These new USB-C chargers represent our dedication to environmental responsibility without sacrificing quality or user experience."
