An Unveiling of Cambria's New Designs

Cambria's exhibit at High Point showcased over 100 quartz designs, including four newly released surfaces: Inverness Stonestreet™, Avalene™, Inverness Blakeley™, and Everleigh Warm™. These designs bring sophisticated, natural textures to life with deep charcoal, subtle green veins, and warm sand tones—highlighting Cambria's dedication to both aesthetic appeal and durability. Cambria's four finish options, including the newly introduced Cambria Luxe™ and Cambria Satin™, add additional tactile and visual dimensions, ensuring versatility for diverse design applications. These finishes enhance the beauty and functionality of Cambria surfaces, all backed by a transferable Full Lifetime Warranty.

Jean Stoffer Collaboration: Elegant, Sustainable, and Built to Last

This year, Cambria also featured two signature pieces from Jean Stoffer's collection of freestanding furnishings. Stoffer has selected Cambria as the exclusive countertop choice for her freestanding island work tables and vanity collections. This is Stoffer's first partnership with Cambria which allows customers the convenience of one-stop shopping for furniture pieces that include her recommended tops.

Her design aesthetic pairs beautifully with Cambria's legacy of quality and American-made craftsmanship, offering designers and homeowners alike the flexibility of sustainable, luxury surfaces built to withstand everyday use.

"Cambria is, in my opinion, the premier quartz brand in the country," said Stoffer. "Their commitment to quality and service ensures that my clients receive only the best in their homes."
