

VLink's team of Expert Software Development Testers advance in Global ITL Software Testing Competition

Demonstrating World-Class Talent: VLink's Software Testers Shine in Prestigious Global Contest

SOUTH WINDSOR, CT, UNITED STATES, November 14, 2024 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Four of VLink's expert software testers have advanced to the semi-finals of a prestigious software competition in India. The competition is hosted by Navigo and the Indian Testing League (ITL). VLink's expert team is one of 70 teams selected to advance among hundreds of participants in the competition.

The competitors work together to showcase their exceptional talent in a challenge that features technical skills in software testing, analytical thinking, and the ability to apply best practices in real-world situations.

We are proud of our development teams' achievement in reaching the semi-finals. This performance highlights VLink's expertise in software testing and our commitment to driving innovation.”

VLink CEO, Sharad Patney

ITL is widely regarded as India's premier software testing competition. Teams participate in rigorous testing challenges that assess their technical and analytical skills, pushing them to demonstrate best practices in problem-solving, creativity, and teamwork.

VLink CEO, Sharad Patney said, "We are incredibly proud of our development teams' dedication and achievement in reaching the semi-finals." "This performance highlights not only their skills but also VLink's expertise in software testing and our commitment to driving innovation and quality in the tech business."

The VLink team is now a step closer to winning the competition, winners will be announced on Nov. 21st in Bangalore, India.
