LEEDS, WEST YORKSHIRE, UNITED KINGDOM, November 18, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Ahmed Al-Muqaddim is pleased to announce the publication of his latest provocative book, "One World, One People And One Faith: A Brief Manifesto". El Mokadem is an economist and international consultant. This manifesto, which was inspired by the common struggles of the COVID-19 epidemic, examines how mankind may unite and share principles to overcome global concerns.

This book explores how global divides and inequality have been exacerbated by crises such as the pandemic, promoting a society based on respect for one another, common values, and cooperation. Through a cross-cultural perspective, the book challenges readers to envision a society in which national, religious, and cultural barriers can be overcome in order to address problems like poverty, human rights violations, and climate change. "One World, One People And One Faith" gives readers hope for a more peaceful and just future by making a strong case for international collaboration and societal cohesiveness.
