This year's RSD Black Friday lineup is packed with exclusive releases sure to excite collectors and music lovers alike. Highlights include Pearl Jam's Dark Matter, a live single pressed on limited-edition vinyl featuring two tracks from their 2024 world tour, and Olivia Rodrigo's Guts (Spilled), a deluxe two-LP variant of her smash-hit album with bonus tracks and exclusive artwork. For jazz fans, the long-anticipated first vinyl release of Bill Evans' Live at Art D'Lugoff's Top of the Gate captures the legendary pianist in peak form. These are just a few of the hundreds of gems arriving for the event, with many more surprises in store.

In addition to incredible records, the new Magnolia Blvd location offers a top-notch experience.

Early birds can fuel up with free doughnuts from Burbank's legendary Doughnut Hut, or pick up a coffee and breakfast from neighbor Blvd Cafecito, who will open their doors early for the occasion. Lines are expected to form along Magnolia Blvd toward Mystic Museum, starting no earlier than 6:00 AM (and maybe keep the camping gear at home—local police have been known to shoo away over enthusiastic night owls).
