With potential shifts in U.S. health insurance on the horizon, our partnership with AFE offers our members affordable healthcare options, enhancing their financial security and well-being.”

*Bobbie Wasserman, Founder,
Single Lady Estates*

“Initially, we deliberated over this partnership, as AFEUSA's core focus is health insurance and business services for entrepreneurs - not our primary mission,” explains Single Lady Estates Founder Bobbie Wasserman. “However, with anticipated changes in U.S. health insurance, we recognized AFE membership as a valuable option to address the evolving needs within our community.”

“We’re excited to partner with Single Lady Estates,” said Jack Diehl, President of the Association for Entrepreneurship. “By providing essential resources and access to affordable healthcare options, we aim to empower the SLE community with greater stability and peace of mind. Together, we’re building a foundation of support that enables members to thrive both personally and financially, reinforcing the strength of the SLE community.”

AFEUSA is a trade association supporting entrepreneurs, self-employed professionals, contract workers and consultants across all 50 states. The Association provides essential education, information, resources, insurance and financial services products empowering members to gain a competitive edge in today's economy through increased purchasing power and a suite of valuable services.

How it Works

AFE membership is available to both free and paid SLE members through our newly launched platform. For $4.99 per month, SLE members gain access to AFE's full suite of products and services. Please note that AFE's discounts and services are only available within the United States.
