Previous winners include industry legends such as Nancy Cartwright (voice of Bart Simpson), Viola Davis, and James Earl Jones.

“From Belgium to the World”

Serge De Marre's journey is nothing short of extraordinary. Hailing from a small country in Europe, De Marre's distinctive international English accent and his ability to connect with global audiences have set him apart in the competitive world of voice-over acting. Earlier this year, De Marre became the voice behind a major national campaign for Tubi, one of the leading streaming platforms in the U.S. This campaign, crafted by the award-winning ad agency Mischief @ No Fixed Address, was seen by millions and further established De Marre's reputation as a top choice for international brands. Tubi specifically sought a voice actor with an international accent to position itself as a fresh, inclusive alternative in the streaming world.

Reflecting on the campaign's success, Carl Peterson, Creative Director at Mischief, remarked, “People are really liking the Tubi campaign; we couldn't have done it without Serge!” This glowing feedback highlights De Marre's role in delivering the unique, accessible sound that Tubi wanted to resonate with its broad audience.

In addition to Tubi, De Marre's voice has brought campaigns to life for well-known brands such as Mini Cooper, Durex, Domino's Pizza, and Doritos, making him a sought-after voice across various industries. Now based in Houston, Texas, De Marre continues to bridge the gap between European and American markets with his unique blend of linguistic and vocal talent, helping brands engage audiences worldwide.

Award Ceremony in Los Angeles

The Voice Arts® Awards will be held on December 8, 2024, at the iconic Beverly Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles, a venue renowned for hosting high-profile events like the Golden Globes. The awards honor the best in the industry and celebrate exceptional achievements across multiple voice-over categories.

"I'm incredibly honored to be nominated for such a prestigious award," said De Marre. "It's surreal to think that someone from a small European country like Belgium can be recognized on an international stage. The journey has been nothing short of incredible, and I'm immensely grateful to my clients and colleagues who have supported me along the way."
