EINPresswire.com/ -- It's never too late in life to find love. In fact, baby boomers are the second largest population of singles seeking their final partner in life. Renowned Love Architect® to some of the world's most influential singles, author and visionary Kailen Rosenberg is on a nationwide mission to find a soulmate for one of the world's most powerful women – an extraordinary yet playful influential bachelorette in her golden years seeking her perfect partner. From the likes of Oprah to well-known celebrities and respected politicians, Rosenberg is known as “The Love Architect to the Stars.” She seeks to bring love into this world, starting with one of the world's most influential women in hopes of bringing our world positivity during such a disconnected time. Rosenberg will be interviewing men from across the country and encourages people throughout the United States to submit potential matches. She will make a donation in the name of the individual who helps her find “the one” to a charity of their choice.

Known for her highly successful approach to love, Rosenberg embarks on this search from coast to coast with her trademark 11-step Love Design process. With an 80% success rate and over 500 marriages to her credit, Rosenberg empowers individuals to build loving, authentic relationships that not only bring joy, healing and fulfillment to their own lives but encourage others to implement love in their own lives. Rosenberg's innovative Love Design method emphasizes the crucial process of designing and cultivating one's personal foundation for love – ensuring the mind, body, soul and spirit are aligned before stepping into any romantic relationship. This method has proven to unite true soulmates, regardless of their age.

The bachelorette is among the most powerful and desirable women and is taking the power into her own hands looking for her ultimate match between the ages of 60 and 72. She is gorgeous, incredibly youthful, intelligent and vibrant. She's petite, in phenomenal shape and lively. The bachelorette has a penchant for contemporary art, fashion, and traveling to new and exotic destinations. Her youthful energy and joie de vivre make her a timeless beauty. A devoted mother and grandmother, she has a passion for adventure, a lively sense of humor and an indomitable spirit that captivates everyone she meets.

Seeking a match who can effortlessly blend sophistication with spontaneity, she is looking for someone who can match her fiery attitude and spit-fire entertaining sense of humor. Her ideal gentleman will not only appreciate her playful, flirtatious charm but will complement her drive, ambition and intellectual depth.

Rosenberg describes the bachelorette's ideal match as handsome, highly intelligent, witty, fun and spontaneous, someone ready for love in his own golden years. Her perfect mate will know how to enjoy a similar opulent lifestyle, but he will have his own passions, profession and aspirations.

"I am committed to building a better world, one love story at a time and redefining the landscape of modern love. Building a successful love life starts long before dating, it's rooted in personal growth, healing and self-awareness to create authentic and lasting connections," said Rosenberg. "Love doesn't expire. Guiding this bachelorette to discover her extraordinary match later in life is not just matching two souls but two families, which often includes lots of grandchildren. Mature adults court and seek genuine love that can teach us all about old-school true love and luxury."

"The wealthy, especially intelligent, powerful, discerning women, take the power into their own hands and hire their own 'Love Architect' to help them find the love of their life," she continued.
