VFAF Films for "Forgotten Valor", an upcoming series by Bakir Vision Films, produced by Rudy Thomas. Forgotten Valor is a groundbreaking series that will shed light on the challenges within the VA healthcare system, highlighting the stories of our veterans and their families who feel abandoned by the very system intended to care for them.

VFAF's Ambassador, Denise Caldon Sorkness, was tapped by the production team to appear in the premiere episode. Sorkness shares a unique, 28-year battle navigating the VA healthcare and court systems, stemming from her late husband's struggle with cancer linked to Agent Orange exposure during the Vietnam War.

Stan Fitzgerald, VFAF's Director of Educational Projects, was invited to participate by reading interview questions for the film. While the series is not politically driven, finding solutions to these issues ultimately requires legislative action. Fitzgerald and the VFAF team will continue to support the project free of charge, assisting with talent acquisition and leveraging their political network to pursue justice for those who have been overlooked.
