Sharifah Hardie’s passion for a better future for all Californians, combined with her extensive experience, makes her an advocate for the sustainable solutions our state needs.”

Dr. Natalyn E. Randle

After a 30-year career with AT&T, life after retirement led her to a deep exploration into self and purpose. While still at AT&T, she earned her real estate license, which eventually led her to launch her own home improvement company when she finally exited. It sparked a fire that she had never experienced in corporate America, and she has since been committed to igniting that spark in others, sharing her journey, and learning from the role models and experts in her life.
