silicate-based concrete densifier penetrates deep into concrete surfaces by capillary action and generates a highly dense and long-lasting sealed floor. Besides, sodium silicate densifiers offer various advantages to give a superior finish to the concrete, such as easier polishing and cleaning process.

The dry sub-segment was valued for the highest market share in 2022 and is predicted to continue to dominate in the global concrete densifier market during the forecast period. The significant growth of the dry sub-segment is mainly because it is less expensive and uses less product to produce the desired outcome. Besides, the dry application process is more efficient and less dirty as compared to wet waste, which makes it a better choice for interior applications or situations where water cannot be used.

The renovation sub-segment accounted for the highest market share in 2022 and is expected to grow at a highest CAGR of 6.4% during the forecast period. The high demand for renovation from homeowners as they are upgrading and enhancing their houses to decorate the durability and aesthetic appeal of their concrete floors is the major factor predicted to boost the sub-segment's growth by 2032. Besides, the concrete densifiers provide a green and cost-effective solution for homeowners who need to renovate their concrete flooring, which is driving the sub-segment's growth.
