EINPresswire.com/ -- Sci-fi enthusiasts have a new world to explore in DL Davies' latest book, "Abu Omar Ha'akeem", which has been prominently featured in The Maple Staple Magazine's 4th Issue. Known for its spotlight on unique indie books, Maple Staple showcases Abu Omar Ha'akeem on pages 4 and 12-13, inviting readers to discover a gripping narrative set on a distant, hostile planet.

"Abu Omar Ha'akeem"

Published in February 2024, "Abu Omar Ha'akeem", takes readers to a different planet, settled by people from Earth over 200 years ago. These settlers face extreme environmental challenges while attempting to terraform their new world. From the start, readers are drawn into the intense life of a young protagonist who battles a deadly sandstorm, forcing him to take refuge inside a gunship. This scene sets the stage for a story of resilience, adaptability, and humanity's unyielding desire to survive against all odds.

DL Davies has nurtured his love of books and storytelling since early childhood, even before he could read. With a heritage of 3/4 Caucasian and 1/4 American Indian, Davies' diverse cultural background and imagination have fueled his storytelling across many genres. Now an experienced author with a love for fantasy and science fiction, Davies brings the same excitement for discovery and adventure to his writing that he once brought to his outdoor exploits.

Abu Omar Ha'akeem's feature in The Maple Staple Magazine highlights one of the exciting new indie works capturing the literary world's attention. The magazine's 4th issue was showcased at both this year's The Word on the Street Toronto Book and Magazine Festival and the Frankfurt Book Fair, which aim to promote Canadian and American independent authors to global audiences.
