ORLANDO, FL, UNITED STATES, December 2, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- QuoteWerks, the leading sales quoting and proposal software, is thrilled to announce the release of Version 25. This latest version introduces a host of powerful features and integrations that will revolutionize the way businesses create, manage, and deliver sales documents and collect payments.

> With these new features and integrations, our customers can streamline their sales processes, reduce errors, and improve overall productivity"
> Brian Laufer, QuoteWerks Vice President

Key Highlights of QuoteWerks Version 25:
- Seamless Integration with HaloPSA: Streamline your sales process with the powerful integration between QuoteWerks and HaloPSA. Effortlessly manage clients, opportunities, quotes, and quickly transfer data between the two platforms.
- Upgraded Ingram Micro Integration: Leverage the efficiency of the Ingram Micro JSON API for faster pricing and availability requests, combined order types, and persistent pricing override notes.
- Enhanced Email Security with QuoteValet DKIM: Protect your brand reputation and improve email deliverability with DKIM, a robust email authentication method.
- Streamlined Data Entry with Clipboard Paste: Save time and effort by directly pasting contact information from various sources into QuoteWerks, automatically populating relevant fields.
- Expanded Payment Gateway Options with Clover: Accept payments for your QuoteWerks documents via QuoteValet using the Clover payment gateway.
- Enhanced Web Experience with Act! for Web Integration: Seamlessly access and manage your Act! data directly from within QuoteWerks Web.
- Google Maps Integration for Improved Efficiency: Visualize customer locations and streamline your workflow with direct access to Google Maps from QuoteWerks.

"We are excited to introduce Version 25, which empowers businesses to work more efficiently and effectively," said Brian Laufer, Vice President at Aspire Technologies, Inc, the developers of QuoteWerks. “Our success has always been in listening to what the community needs. With these new features and integrations, our customers can streamline their sales processes, reduce errors, and improve overall productivity.”

QuoteWerks is committed to providing customers with greater choice and flexibility.
