

Country Artist Matt Tucker Celebrates the Resilience of the Human Spirit with His Single and Video, Can Survive

A tribute to resilience, inspired by Matt's friend Paul DeBonis, founder of The National Cancer Assistance Foundation

ROCK HILL, SC, UNITED STATES, December 2, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Country singer-songwriter Matt Tucker, a proud native of Rock Hill, SC, is excited to announce the release of the long-awaited video for his poignant single "Can Survive," now available for fans to enjoy alongside the track, streaming on all major platforms.

Though Can Survive has been out for a while, the video faced delays when the original footage was misplaced. Finally recovered, the video premiered this past Friday November 29 2024, adding a visual depth to the song's heartfelt story of perseverance and hope.

Co-written with his fiancée Morgan Burch during the COVID-19 pandemic in Mount Airy, NC—Andy Griffith's hometown—Can Survive is a tribute to resilience, inspired by Matt's friend Paul DeBonis, founder of The National Cancer Assistance Foundation. DeBonis's dedication to supporting cancer patients inspired the song's message of unwavering determination in the face of life's toughest battles.

"Paul's unwavering commitment to helping others and the strength of those he's supported inspired me deeply during the pandemic," said Tucker. "Can Survive is a celebration of the perseverance we all have within us, even in the toughest times."
