The Stephen Millan Grant Fund for Entrepreneurs is the latest initiative from Stephen Millan, a distinguished figure in the legal world with extensive experience in criminal defense and community service. Stephen Millan, who currently serves as a Circuit Court Judge in Miami-Dade's Juvenile and Criminal Division, is known not only for his leadership in the legal field but also for his unwavering dedication to mentoring the next generation. This grant is a testament to his commitment to fostering leadership, innovation, and community development.

The grant is specifically designed to support students who are on a path to becoming future entrepreneurs. To be eligible, applicants must meet a set of criteria that reflects the core values Stephen Millan holds in high regard: leadership, innovation, and dedication to personal and academic growth. Students must:

- Be currently enrolled as an undergraduate student at an accredited university in the United States.
- Be pursuing a career in entrepreneurship, demonstrating a strong commitment to business innovation and leadership.
- Submit a compelling essay that articulates their entrepreneurial vision, showcasing their passion and potential for leadership in the business world.

Stephen Millan's background and career illustrate the very qualities this grant seeks to reward. With a history of success in both the legal field and in mentoring young people, Stephen Millan is keen to assist the future of the business world by providing financial support to those who show promise and passion in entrepreneurship. Through this scholarship, Stephen Millan envisions nurturing a new generation of business leaders who are prepared to create meaningful impact within their communities and beyond.

The application process requires students to submit a detailed essay that outlines their entrepreneurial goals, how they plan to innovate, and what leadership means to them. Essays should reflect the applicant's unique perspective, ambitions, and plans for the future of business. Stephen Millan believes that the future of entrepreneurship lies in innovation, leadership, and the willingness to take calculated risks, and he encourages students who align with these values to apply.

The Stephen Millan Grant Fund for Entrepreneurs is open to all undergraduate students, regardless of their city or state of residence, within the United States. The deadline for submission is September 15, 2025, with the winner announced on October 15, 2025.
