

Skillsline Partners with The DeBruce Foundation to Expand Yakima Workforce Readiness Project

INVITATION: Skillsline invites the community to learn more and welcomes additional investment to support this important and impactful opportunity.

YAKIMA, WA, UNITED STATES,
December 4, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/

-- Skillsline is excited to announce our strategic partnership with The DeBruce Foundation in support of the Yakima Workforce Readiness Project, a pilot initiative designed to empower staff, students and families through personal skills development, career assessment, and enhanced educational and employment opportunities. This collaboration reflects a shared commitment to fostering meaningful employment at thriving wages, with the goal of creating generational impact in the Yakima Valley. We thank The DeBruce Foundation for their collaborative work on the Project and their commitment to building human skills and career literacy in the community.

This funded pilot will deliver skills learning and career development support to students at La Salle High School and other partners soon to be announced, as well as families engaged with the YWCA Yakima. Participants will gain access to Skillsline's human-supported, user-friendly technology, along with on-the-ground professional engagement. The program's holistic approach is geared toward preparing individuals for the next steps in education, employment, and life, ensuring that they are equipped with in-demand human skills for the future.

We extend our gratitude to our local strategic advisors, Buffy Alegria, Tim McGree, and Erin Black, whose leadership and guidance have been critical to the development of this project. Their support, along with the leadership of the organizations we will be serving, has been instrumental in making this work relevant to the Yakima Valley, and we thank them for their partnership in our work.

Upskilling to prepare for today and for generations to come
