

VideoProc Introduces Free Video Editing App for iOS and Android Mobile Users

Digiarty Software announces the release of VideoProc Editor, a versatile and free video editing app for iPhone, iPad, and Android devices.

CHENGDU, SICHUAN, CHINA, December 3, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Digiarty Software, Inc. has launched VideoProc Editor, a free video editing application designed for iOS and Android platforms. Now available on the App Store and Google Play, the app offers a seamless multi-track editing experience aimed at both casual and advanced users. It caters to a wide range of creative projects, from personal videos to social media content.

VideoProc Editor

Developed by the team behind the popular VideoProc suite, this new app highlights Digiarty's commitment to delivering powerful yet accessible software solutions. Designed for a mobile-first audience, VideoProc Editor offers features such as frame-by-frame editing, creative effects, keyframe animations, and more, enabling users to produce high-quality, cinematic videos on their mobile devices.

VideoProc Editor is the mobile app of our free desktop software, VideoProc Vlogger, with additional features."

Bob Luo

According to Bob Luo, head of Digiarty's mobile software development team, "VideoProc Editor is an extension of our free desktop software, VideoProc Vlogger. We aim to bring a portable and modern editing experience to mobile users, helping them create and share more videos across YouTube, social media, and other platforms."
