

Team Procure Presents Enigma: A Breakthrough in Procurement Data Analysis

Team Procure has introduced an AI-powered reporting tool built for procurement professionals to make purchasing analysis easier, faster, and more efficient.

BOISE, ID, UNITED STATES, December 4, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Team Procure has announced the launch of Enigma, an AI-driven reporting tool designed to simplify procurement data analysis. With advanced capabilities tailored for procurement professionals, Enigma is set to transform how teams generate and manage reports.

Company Team

The tool is powered by large language models (LLM), enabling users to communicate with it in plain English and generate reports in PDF and Excel formats for easy sharing. Among the key features of Enigma is its intelligent learning capability, which automatically identifies relationships between datasets and continuously adapts to changes, providing accurate and up-to-date insights into your procurement operations.

Enigma removes the burden of analyzing massive datasets, allowing procurement teams to focus on what matters most — decision-making and strategy.”

Onurhan Ozturk, Founder & CEO at Team Procure

Team Procure developed Enigma to address common challenges faced by procurement teams in large organizations, including time-consuming reporting and difficulty spotting patterns or hidden insights within complex data. The solution reduces report generation time by up to 70% and eliminates human errors.

While Enigma is purpose-built for procurement professionals, it can also extend across other organizational functions. Seamlessly integrating with major SQL-based databases, including Microsoft SQL Server, MySQL, Oracle, and PostgreSQL, Enigma has the potential to enhance data analysis and reporting across departments — without requiring custom development or manual coding.

Enigma is now available for early access, and interested businesses can sign up on the Team Procure website.
