CloudDefense.AI Featured in the KuppingerCole Leadership Compass for CSPMs

PALO ALTO, CA, UNITED STATES, December 6, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- We are thrilled to announce that KuppingerCole, a globally recognized analyst firm, has highlighted CloudDefense.AI for its exceptional Cloud Security Posture Management (CSPM) solution in the KuppingerCole Leadership Compass for CSPM guide. This recognition underscores our commitment to providing innovative, cutting-edge cloud security solutions that help businesses effectively manage their cloud security posture in an increasingly complex hybrid and multi-cloud environment.

The KuppingerCole Leadership Compass provides a detailed evaluation of different markets, offering insights into key trends, sub-segments, and the essential capabilities that define effective solutions. It also includes ratings based on the KuppingerCole Leadership Compass Methodology, which assesses how well these solutions meet industry expectations. The CSPM report specifically highlights the critical role of CSPM tools in securing hybrid and multi-cloud environments by providing visibility into vulnerabilities, ensuring compliance, and automating risk mitigation.

> This recognition by KuppingerCole reinforces our dedication to providing robust, innovative CSPM solutions that empower businesses to secure their cloud environments with confidence."
> Anshu Bansal, CEO of CloudDefense.ai

With the CSPM market valued at $10.81 billion in 2024 and projected to grow at 20.2% annually, the importance of CSPM tools has never been more pronounced. As businesses face growing complexities in cloud security, these solutions are becoming indispensable in managing risks and ensuring compliance across cloud infrastructures. CloudDefense.AI's inclusion in the Leadership Compass highlights our leadership in providing real-time risk management, compliance support, and advanced cloud security capabilities tailored to the unique needs of modern enterprises.

CloudDefense.AI offers a comprehensive Cloud Native Application Protection Platform (CNAPP) that secures cloud environments with ease and efficiency.
