“We are excited to boost case acceptance in dental offices

by offering Splitit products through our AI-platform, which uses machine learning to efficiently match patients with the best payment options.” said Ali Touchaei, CEO of DentiRate. “This partnership gives our providers the tools they need to help patients say 'yes' to the care they deserve.”

“I've spoken to many executives in the dental industry managing hundreds of dental offices, and they all shared one common need: a fast and affordable patient financing option that covers the entire treatment to enhance the patient experience," said Ali Touchaei. "That's why we started DentiRate and partnered with Splitit. With Splitit and our in-house financing feature, we can guarantee a 100% approval rate for all patients."

Splitit provides two types of payment solutions: funded, which delivers the full payment amount upfront to practices, and unfunded, where payments are distributed over time in installments.

Practices can choose how they want the cash flow—either receiving funds upfront or through an installment plan over time—giving them the flexibility to manage finances in a way that works best for their business.

"We're thrilled to collaborate with DentiRate to empower dental offices with innovative payment solutions. By integrating Splitit's card-linked installment plans with DentiRate's streamlined patient financing platform, we're making dental care more accessible to patients of all credit backgrounds. Splitit eliminates the need for applications or credit checks, offering patients a seamless and flexible payment experience while enhancing case acceptance rates for providers.", said Calvin Woo, CSO of Splitit.
