A leader in aviation maintenance, repair, and technical services, ATS saw an opportunity to leverage its extensive global network and sourcing expertise to address a critical need for certified medical products.

"Our mission at ATS Medical goes beyond simply providing medical supplies; it's about enhancing the quality of life for our community," said Mr. Mahdi Al-Tahaineh, chairman of the ATS group of companies. "Our values-driven business model inspired us to support the medical community during the pandemic. The launch of this storefront also reflects the broader mission of ATS: to leverage our expertise across industries to provide innovative, dependable solutions that serve our clients and communities worldwide."
