Sir Gadfly: Anonymous Rebel Bridging
Art, Blockchain, and Cultural Rebellion

"Art is the ultimate rebellion—it becomes immortal on Bitcoin." — Sir
Gadfly

Sir Gadfly, a visionary in contemporary digital art, is redefining glitch art by merging digital disruption with the permanence of the Bitcoin blockchain. Drawing comparisons to the rebellious legacies of Banksy and Duchamp, Sir Gadfly creates works that challenge norms while celebrating freedom and resilience. His choice of Bitcoin as his canvas—inscribing art onto rare Satoshis—elevates his creations to unparalleled rarity and historical significance.

"h00dsy by Sir Gadfly" – A bold, edgy glitch art masterpiece that merges Bitcoin culture with raw street aesthetics, embodying themes of freedom, anonymity, and rebellion.

Revolutionizing Digital Art

Art is the ultimate rebellion—it becomes immortal on Bitcoin.”

Sir Gadfly

With a background in television and film, Sir Gadfly pioneered glitch editing techniques for FOX Kids in 2001, setting the foundation for a career that bridges technology and art. Today, he channels that expertise into blockchain-based masterpieces, where every pixel tells a story of rebellion and liberation.

"Bitcoin's constraints refine my storytelling, making every glitch carry the weight of a larger narrative," says Sir Gadfly.

Highlights of Sir Gadfly's Works

- h00dsy:

An instant sell-out, h00dsy embodies themes of anonymity and defiance, cementing Sir Gadfly's reputation as a trailblazer in blockchain art.

Global Reach and Growing Recognition

Sir Gadfly's work has been showcased at major events, including Art Basel Miami 2023, Inscribing Singapore 2024, and the Bitcoin Conference 2024 in Nashville, as well as exhibitions in San Francisco and Lisbon, Portugal. His creations have also been featured on Bitcoin Magazine, reflecting the growing appreciation for his blend of art and blockchain innovation.

By inscribing his art onto Bitcoin's immutable ledger, Sir Gadfly bridges cultural and technological boundaries, creating pieces that resonate globally while preserving their exclusivity.

Introducing RECCODE: A New Era of Digital Art

Launching January 3, 2025, RECCODE is a limited collection of 44 glitch-inscribed pieces that reimagine Casey Rodarmor's public-domain digital works. This collection blends historical and emotional narratives, elevating Rodarmor's creations into bold statements of resistance and innovation.

“RECCODE transforms open-source creations into bold, emotionally charged works of resistance,” says Sir Gadfly.

Admired by Rodarmor himself, RECCODE stands at the forefront of blockchain art and cultural revolution. A portion of proceeds will support Bitcoin Core developers, reinforcing Sir Gadfly’s commitment to the ecosystem that inspires his work.

Art’s Rebellious Legacy Meets Bitcoin’s Canvas

Sir Gadfly’s creations draw parallels to art legends while pushing boundaries with Bitcoin as his medium. By inscribing art onto rare Satoshis, his works achieve unmatched permanence and value, blending the blockchain’s history with artistic innovation.

“Bitcoin isn’t just a medium—it’s my canvas, and each Satoshi is a thread in the story of freedom,” says Sir Gadfly.
