The orthodontic consumables market size is expected to see strong growth in the next few years. It will grow to $3.68 billion in 2028 at a compound annual growth rate CAGR of 6.6%. The growth in the forecast period can be attributed to rising number of dental clinics, rising population, the increasing adoption of dentistry, rising instances of periodontal disease, increased public awareness of oral health, and growing prevalence of oral diseases. Major trends in the forecast period include technological innovation, advancements in orthodontic treatments, adoption of digital orthodontics, innovative product development, and integration of artificial intelligence AI with intraoral scanners.

What are the Key Drivers of the Orthodontic Consumables Market?

The rising prevalence of oral diseases is expected to propel the growth of the orthodontic consumables market going forward. Oral diseases are a broad category of conditions that affect the mouth, teeth, gums, and related structures. The rising prevalence of oral diseases is due to dietary changes, poor oral hygiene, and awareness of dental issues among people. Orthodontic consumables prevent sores and wounds and reduce the risk of infections that can contribute to more serious oral diseases, which help maintain teeth' aesthetic appearance for better psychological well-being.
