able to grant their pet this gift.”

Dr. Karen Whala, Dr. Gary Hsia, and Dr. Bethany Hsia are co-founders and veterinarians of CodaPet. They share a passion for increasing both customer access and awareness by empowering a network of veterinarians who provide compassion and professional care to more pets and their families in a familiar environment.

“As a dedicated veterinarian with four years of experience, I am passionate about providing a peaceful transition for pets and their families during their most challenging times. Working in a small animal practice, I witnessed firsthand the stress and anxiety that pets and their owners often face in a clinic setting. This has fueled my commitment to offering compassionate end-of-life care that honors the bond between pets and their humans. I strive to create a supportive environment where families can navigate this difficult process with grace and understanding, ensuring their beloved companions receive the dignity they deserve.," says Dr. Alexandria Bufford. Dr. Bufford brings compassion and dedication to in-home pet euthanasia, helping families navigate their pets' final moments with peace and dignity. A Tuskegee University graduate, earning both her undergraduate degree in 2015 and her DVM in 2020, Dr. Bufford has four years of experience in small animal practice and a background as an active-duty Army veterinarian.

Her passion for end-of-life care stems from witnessing the stress pets often experience in clinic settings, inspiring her to offer a more comfortable and compassionate alternative. Dr. Bufford is devoted to honoring the bond between pets and their families, ensuring their beloved companions feel loved and at ease in their final moments.

Dr. Bufford services Fayetteville, Sanford, Raeford, Hope Mills, Cameron, Spring Lake, Fort, Bragg, Dunn, Lillington, Southern Pines, Benson, Red Springs, Saint Pauls, Roseboro, Broadway, Coats, Erwin, Stedman

How In-home Pet Euthanasia Works

Through CodaPet, pet parents can easily book in-home pet euthanasia performed by a compassionate and licensed veterinarian. Prior to the appointment, the veterinarian contacts the family to address any questions or concerns they might have. At the appointment, the veterinarian assists the family by going over the diagnosis and applying a quality-of-life assessment to objectively assess the pet's health and ensure there is no uncertainty about the need for euthanasia.

The visit takes, on average, 45 minutes. Pet parents have a window of time to be with their pets privately before and after the euthanasia procedure. The veterinarian only starts the euthanasia process when everyone is ready. This helps bring closure to all family members involved in the end-of-life care of a pet. For those who need support with aftercare, the veterinarian can assist with transportation and cremation services.

Benefits of In-home Pet Euthanasia include:

1. Compassion: In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more compassionate approach to end-of-life care. Pets can be surrounded by their loved ones, receive individual attention and care, and pass away peacefully in a familiar environment.
2. Comfort: One major benefit of in-home pet euthanasia is the comfort it provides to both the pet and their owners. The familiar surroundings of home can help reduce anxiety and stress for pets, making the process more peaceful. In addition, being surrounded by loved ones can provide a sense of support and comfort during a very difficult time.
3. Control: In-home pet euthanasia also allows pet owners to have more control over the experience. They can choose the time and place of the euthanasia, as well as who will be present. In addition, in-home euthanasia allows owners to personalize the experience, including choosing the location, music, lighting, and other factors that can make the experience more meaningful.
4. Closure: Being able to say goodbye in a meaningful way can be an essential part of the grieving process. In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more intimate farewell, which can provide closure and help with the healing process.
