EINPresswire.com/ -- Coneksion®, a leading provider of supply chain and logistics data connectivity solutions, and GoComet, an AI-powered transportation visibility platform that automates end-to-end logistics for manufacturing companies, have announced a partnership to enhance ocean booking capabilities for GoComet customers worldwide.

As part of the partnership, coneksion® delivers a comprehensive data connectivity solution that enables seamless integration between GoComet and carriers to facilitate instant e-booking for ocean freight. This partnership is part of GoComet's larger vision of building the industry's first end-to-end cross-border logistics management platform. Leveraging coneksion's capabilities, GoComet customers will soon be able to execute Bookings and make key document exchanges like Shipping Instructions and Bill of Lading, amongst other messages, automating yet another laborious manual process for its global customers.

"Again, a great cooperation on ocean freight data connectivity—clearly, it's time to modernize this industry's data exchange. We are excited to collaborate with GoComet to facilitate seamless integration and provide an efficient onboarding experience for GoComet's customers and their trading partners," said Jaakko Elovaara, CEO of coneksion.
