“We are delighted to have collaborated on executing this sale transaction for two of our A330-200 passenger aircraft and look forward to expanding our partnership with the National team,” commented CDB Aviation Chief Executive Officer Jie Chen. “These A330 aircraft will support the carrier’s fleet growth strategy, offering efficient, resourceful, and modern air passenger services for their customers’ increasing transportation demands.”

“We are extremely grateful to CDB Aviation for partnering with us in this aircraft sale. The addition of these two A330-

200 aircraft to National's fleet emphasizes our commitment to providing world-class service to our customers as we expand and enhance our passenger experience”, commented National Airlines Chairman Christopher Alf. These new aircraft will not only lead to a more efficient and broader operational range but also equip us better to meet the growing demand for exclusive, highly customised and personalised charter travel requests from customers across the globe”.

The A330-200 is renowned for its fuel efficiency, advanced technology, and versatility. With a range of up to 15,094 km (8,150 nautical miles), this aircraft is ideal for National Airlines' long-haul operations, connecting key market sections across continents. The A330-200, configured for optimal passenger comfort, features a spacious, two-class layout with modern amenities, ensuring a premium in-flight experience for business and leisure travellers.

With the latest fleet expansion, National Airlines currently operates nine Boeing 747 freighters along with an expanding passenger fleet of Airbus A330-300, A330-200s, and Boeing 757-200. The airline has also placed an order for four B777 freighters, with delivery scheduled for FY 2025-26.
