A Game-Changing Partnership

This joint venture combines the technological expertise and innovative solutions of EliMobile with the established infrastructure and market presence of Nexus Telecom. Together, the two companies are poised to deliver a superior network experience to clients across Europe, leveraging Wind3’s robust telecommunications platform to ensure seamless connectivity and outstanding service delivery.

The partnership marks a significant milestone in EliMobile’s journey to becoming a full-fledged operator, with a vision to expand its global outreach and provide comprehensive solutions to its growing European customer base. By working closely with Nexus Telecom and Wind3, EliMobile aims to address the evolving needs of modern consumers who demand reliability, speed, and accessibility in their network services.

Key Objectives and Benefits

Client Growth: The collaboration is set to attract nearly 100,000 new customers in Italy within the first half of 2025, creating a larger, more dynamic client base.

Enhanced Connectivity: Leveraging the Wind3 network, the partnership will ensure improved coverage and faster connections, addressing key pain points for existing and new users.

Service Innovation: This alliance will accelerate EliMobile's journey toward becoming a global telecommunications operator, offering cutting-edge solutions tailored to the demands of European markets.

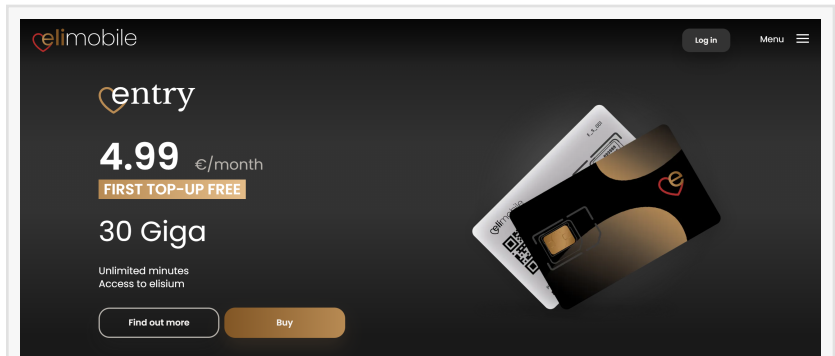

Building a Future of Better Connectivity

EliMobile's ambitious expansion plans reflect its commitment to redefining the telecommunications landscape by delivering exceptional service quality and creating meaningful connections for its users. This partnership with Nexus Telecom is not just a business agreement—it is a strategic step forward in fostering innovation and ensuring that clients across Europe enjoy the benefits of state-of-the-art connectivity.

Gianpiero Allegri, CEO of EliMobile, stated:

"This partnership is a testament to our commitment to growth, innovation, and customer satisfaction. By joining forces with Nexus Telecom and leveraging Wind3's exceptional infrastructure, we are setting a new benchmark for telecommunications services in Europe. This is a pivotal moment for EliMobile as we move closer to our goal of becoming a global operator."

Marco Bianchi, CEO of Nexus Telecom, added:

EliMobile is a forward-thinking telecommunications provider dedicated to reshaping the connectivity landscape through innovation, reliability, and customer-focused solutions.

"Our mission is not only to provide reliable and innovative services but also to empower communities and drive positive change across Europe and beyond."

"Our collaboration with EliMobile represents a shared vision of delivering superior services to customers while embracing innovation and excellence. Together, we will redefine what's possible in the telecommunications industry."

"EliMobile is more than just a telecommunications company; it is a vision for the future of connectivity. As its owner, I am deeply committed to redefining how people connect, communicate, and experience the digital world. Our mission is not only to provide reliable and innovative services but also to empower communities and drive positive change across Europe and beyond. This is just the beginning of our journey to becoming a global leader in telecommunications." says Marco Antonio Soriano IV
