We're proud to finally be bringing this activity to the US market, I know adventure seekers in the East have been waiting some time for something like this to come along.”

Situated in the Old Standard Quarry, next to Harpers Ferry National Historical Park near the confluence of the Shenandoah and Potomac Rivers, the Harpers Ferry bungee site will feature a state-of-the-art cantilevered jump tower, offering jumpers views of a Civil War Battlefield. Participants are given the option to experience the water-dip, making this a unique attraction unlike any other in the country.

Built on a Canadian Legacy- This new bungee jumping site draws on the 34 years of expertise from The Great Bungee

Company's sister company, Great Canadian Bungee, well known for delivering safe and professional experiences for decades. With a similar operating schedule to its Canadian counterpart, The Great Bungee Company will operate daily, becoming the only bungee location in America to do so. The season will run from April to November. Reservations will be required.

Harpers Ferry is a region that combines natural beauty and historical significance, making it already a popular destination for adventure travellers and tourists. The new jump site is in partnership with and neighbours to River Riders, a well established local rafting company and it is also directly across the street from the National Historical Park.

The company has just begun offering Priority Passes to the first interested jumpers. Priority pass holders will be able to secure their spot before general bookings open and the first 1000 passes will be discounted. This concept allows the keenest jumpers the opportunity to ensure they get the first choice of jump dates.
