EINPresswire.com/ -- Larry Odell Johnson, Emeritus Assistant Professor of Mathematics and passionate biblical scholar, shares “What Is We To You?!”, a 114-page compelling exploration of the first four chapters of the King James Version (KJV) of the Holy Scriptures.

This thought-provoking book invites readers to engage with the semiotic and hermeneutical foundations of Scripture, illustrating how these timeless teachings address critical issues such as racism, social structures, colorism, and the complexities of modern life.

Drawing on his academic background from Arizona State University and the University of California at Berkeley, Johnson offers a unique autobiographical lens through which he interprets Scripture. His insights are grounded in a sincere desire to foster meaningful discussions that challenge readers to reflect on their moral choices and the societal implications of their actions.

In “What Is We To You?!”, Johnson skillfully analyzes the narratives of biblical figures, including his compelling illustrations of Abel and Cain, to highlight their significance in understanding spiritual and ethical dilemmas. His work not only elucidates Scripture but also encourages readers to appreciate the richness of life and the importance of personal accountability in a rapidly changing world.

This book transcends traditional theological study; it serves as a vital call to awareness for individuals navigating spiritual complacency and societal challenges. Johnson emphasizes the
