About The Still Trust

The Stīl Trust began as the brainchild of Asbasia Mikhail, The Stīl Trust's founder and CEO. After wearing a school uniform for the first 18 years of her life, Asbasia never had to worry about choosing an outfit. After high school and into her professional years, Asbasia found it more and more difficult to find a complete look that fit her personal style, especially after becoming a mother. As a style-minded individual, Asbasia always wanted to look her best. However, as a busy mom and ER doctor, She was challenged with time and a post baby-figure. She consistently struggled with figuring out what to wear. She was certain she was not the only one facing this issue, a realization that compelled me to create The Stīl Trust.
