The champagne vinegar is produced by adding acetobacter aceti, a bacteria that converts ethanol into acetic acid, to the champagne base and then aging and fermenting it. The champagne vinegar is extremely popular in Europe, especially in France and Germany. France is the largest producer and one of the largest consumers of champagne vinegar. The associated health benefits of consuming champagne vinegar along with the texture and flavor it adds to various dishes is boosting the demand for the champagne vinegar in the restaurants, household kitchens, and foodservice industry, across the globe.

According to United States Department of Agriculture, spending on food away from homes (restaurant, full-service and fast food) accounts $978.2 billion or 51.9% of total food expenditures. The rising consumer expenditure on food from commercial food outlets is expected to drive the champagne vinegar market growth during the forecast period.

The surge in health consciousness, rising concerns regarding deteriorating environmental conditions, and growing demand for quality and healthy food products is shifting the consumer preferences towards natural and organic food and food ingredients. According to Organic Trade Association in the year 2020-21, Organic revenues exceeded $63 billion, with total annual growth of $1.4 billion. Food sales, which accounted for more than 90% of organic sales, reached $57.5 billion (approximately 2% growth) and non-food sales reached $6.0 billion (7% growth) in U.S.
