Founders Craig and Debbie credit their ongoing success to their meaningful partnerships with clients. “Our mission has always been to lift up small businesses and turn their digital challenges into opportunities for growth,” said Craig Lawson. “Winning this award again is a testament to the trust our clients place in us and the results we deliver.”

Known for their slogan, “Getting ClickReady Equals More Leads & Opportunities,” the team at ClickReady takes pride in crafting customized strategies that help their clients thrive. This includes a comprehensive suite of services such as SEO marketing, Google Ads management, local search optimization, email marketing, and more. Their commitment to innovation and client-centric services has earned them the distinction of being a Google Ads Preferred Partner and a national leader in PPC management.

Jacob Brooks, Ads Manager, added, “At ClickReady, we do more than improve search rankings or optimize ad campaigns—we give small businesses the tools, attention, and insights they need to succeed. Each client we serve becomes a part of our community, and this award is as much theirs as it is ours.”

ClickReady’s winning formula blends cutting-edge tools, data-driven decision-making, and a personal touch. Clients have consistently lauded the company for its live SEO sessions, personalized marketing plans, and advanced optimization powered by AI technologies. These innovative services extend across diverse industries, including legal services, home improvement, healthcare, and B2B businesses.

The Georgia Business Journal Best of Georgia Awards celebrate businesses that have achieved extraordinary success and made significant contributions to their industries and communities. Winning this award for two consecutive years underscores ClickReady's reputation in the digital marketing space and its role as a key partner for small businesses looking to grow their online presence.
