

ICSWG Youth Sub-Committee Nominates Miles Henderson as the First Youth Member of UN PFPAD

Miles Henderson's nomination to the United Nations Permanent Forum for People of African Descent shows his dedication to youth advocacy and Pan-African unity.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, December 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In a historic move for

This nomination represents the power of youth leadership and the resilience of our communities. I am honored to advocate for the voices of my peers and future generations of the African diaspora," youth advocacy and Pan-African unity, Miles Henderson has been nominated to serve on the United Nations Permanent Forum for People of African Descent. This nomination underscores his lifelong commitment to promoting Black unity, cultural education, and systemic change. If selected, Henderson will represent the voices of young people across the African diaspora globally.

Miles Henderson

Henderson, 30, founded True Culture University, a platform dedicated to educating people about African and African diasporic history, and the Pan-African Student Congress, which empowers youth to address advocacy issues. He is also the creator of PORTAL, an interactive platform designed to bridge gaps within the global African diaspora.

Miles holds dual bachelor's degrees in International Studies and Asian Studies, with a minor in Pan-African Studies, from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, and is completing his Master's in TESOL at Eastern University, where his thesis focuses on AI language translation for Pan-African collaboration. He plans to pursue a Doctorate in Peace and Security Studies with a focus on the Horn of Africa.

In addition to his entrepreneurial work, Henderson is dedicated to honoring Black history. As a member of the Marcus Garvey Bronze Coordinating Committee, he is leading efforts to install a statue of Marcus Garvey at the African Union Headquarters, symbolizing Pan-African unity.

The United Nations Permanent Forum for People of African Descent, established to address the unique challenges and opportunities facing African diaspora communities, aims to advance justice, human rights, and sustainable development. If selected, Henderson's appointment would mark a historic milestone for youth advocates, showcasing the importance of youth-driven solutions in shaping global policy.

Henderson, the first member of the ICSWG Youth Sub-Committee, has played a key role in increasing youth representation and advocating for participation during the Forum's inaugural session in Geneva. The International Civil Society Working Group (ICSWG), a global coalition supporting the United Nations Permanent Forum for People of African Descent (PFPAD), mobilizes advocacy, raises awareness, and collaborates with communities to ensure the Forum's success, with its Youth Sub-Committee amplifying the voices of young people in global policymaking.

Henderson's nomination is supported by a wide coalition of organizations and leaders who recognize his transformative impact on the African diaspora. His work in fostering connections and breaking down barriers aligns with the mission of the Permanent Forum.
