

Bullet Resistant Glass: The Latest Trend in Home Security for Safety-Conscious Homeowners

OREM, UT, UNITED STATES, December 23, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- As the world becomes increasingly unpredictable, homeowners are taking extra precautions to protect their families and property. One of the most sought-after security measures is bullet resistant glass, which is now more affordable than ever and can easily fit into most contemporary frames.

This has led to a surge in demand for this innovative solution, according to Quin Denning, CEO of Armitex, a leading manufacturer of ballistic glass.

"We've never seen so many homeowners ask for ballistic glass as it is now. Homes are jumping ahead to add extra security to their windows," says Denning.

With the rise in break-ins and vandalism, it's no surprise that homeowners are turning to this reliable and effective option to safeguard their homes. Bullet resistant glass has become a high need among homes across the country to not only prevent break-ins, but to resist weather damages as well. This multi-resistant material has replaced security film and impact glass for a well secured home.

"We have various ways of retrofitting ballistic glass in residential homes, making it far more affordable for homeowners to purchase." explains Denning.

Whether in the process of building or remodeling, bulletproof glass can be the strongest security window for your home. It can stand the test of time, weather, break-ins and even certain types of bullets, helping to protect your home under any threat.

Bulletproof windows now have the ability to be thinner and retrofit into more residential frames,
