Shular, a proud Tri Delta alumna, initially submitted her debut book for consideration on the sorority's website, only to face rejection. Undeterred, she continued to pursue her passion for writing. Shular's feature ensures that her book will reach countless fellow Tri Delta sisters and readers across the country.

Following this success, Shular is excited to share that her second book, I Wish My Mommy Was an Octopus, is a whimsical children's tale that explores the imaginative wish of a child longing for her mother to have eight arms, enabling her to juggle every task with ease while still providing love and attention.
