Despite recent headlines concerning Bench's decision to suspend operations on December 28, we are pleased to reassure Bench customers that Employer.com has been working diligently behind the scenes to ensure a seamless transition.

What This Means for Bench Customers:

Continuity of Service: Bench customers will continue working with the same expert in-house bookkeepers they know and trust.

Platform Stability: Customers will retain full access to the same powerful, intuitive Bench platform.

Data Security: All customer data remains intact, secure, and protected, with no disruption to historical records or ongoing service.

“Bench has always been a trusted partner to small businesses, and we are excited to build on that legacy,” said Jesse Tinsley, CEO of Employer.com. “While the challenges Bench recently faced were unexpected, we recognized an extraordinary opportunity to integrate their capabilities into our own suite of solutions. By combining forces, we can create even more value for Bench’s loyal customers while extending the reach and impact of Employer.com’s offerings.”

This acquisition ensures that Bench customers can continue relying on the same high-quality service they’ve always received, while also opening the door to future enhancements and capabilities powered by Employer.com’s extensive resources. Employer.com is committed to empowering small businesses with the tools and support they need to thrive, and Bench’s expertise in financial management aligns perfectly with that mission.

“At Bench, our customers and team have always been at the heart of everything we do. We’re so pleased to have found a great home for many of them with Employer.com—a partner we trust to deliver the care and continuity our customers deserve,” said Jennifer Bouyoukos, Chief People Officer at Bench Accounting. “This transition reflects our unwavering focus on creating the best possible outcomes for everyone involved.”
