

Tranquil Tea Collaboration: Two Wellness Brands Unite to Redefine Relaxation

Big Black Tea partners with Goodness Tea to craft a new signature blend inspired by restful nights. Stay tuned for this "tranquil" infusion!

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, January 15, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Big Black Tea, a Houston-based tea and wellness brand, is excited to announce a new partnership with Goodness Tea, a farm-to-cup tea producer from Sequim, Washington. This collaboration aims to enhance Big Black Tea's offerings by integrating Goodness Tea's expertise in sustainable farming and artisanal blending.

Shaelee Evans hand-harvesting botanicals at Goodness Tea Farm, Sequim, Washington.

Founded in 2008 by Shaelee Evans, Goodness Tea began with a mission to create nourishing tea blends for family and friends. Over the years, Shaelee's dedication to organic practices and community-led food systems has transformed Goodness Tea into a respected name in the tea industry. The farm grows a variety of botanicals and fruits, crafting loose-leaf blends and whole-food chocolates that reflect a commitment to earth-care, people-care, and fair-share principles.

“

Partnering with Goodness Tea allows us to bring our customers closer to the source of their tea”

Tim Salau

Big Black Tea was established to provide high-quality, wellness-focused tea blends that cater to diverse palates. With roots in Houston's rich cultural tapestry, the brand has always emphasized inclusivity and community engagement. This partnership with Goodness Tea aligns with Big Black Tea's mission to offer products that are both beneficial and sustainably sourced.

As part of this collaboration, Big Black Tea and Goodness Tea are developing a new blend designed to promote relaxation and tranquility. While details remain under wraps, enthusiasts might ponder the connection between restful nights and the calming embrace of nature's botanicals.

"Partnering with Goodness Tea allows us to bring our customers closer to the source of their tea," said Tim Salau, Co-Founder of Big Black Tea. "Shaelee's dedication to sustainable farming and her innovative approach to blending align perfectly with our values."

This partnership marks a significant step forward for both companies, promising to deliver unique and healthful tea experiences to consumers nationwide.

About Big Black Tea

Big Black Tea is a Houston-based tea and wellness brand committed to providing high-quality, inclusive, and community-focused products. With a diverse range of blends, Big Black Tea aims to cater to the wellness needs of its customers while celebrating cultural richness.

About Goodness Tea

Goodness Tea, founded by Shaelee Evans in 2008, is a farm-to-cup tea producer based in Sequim, Washington. The farm specializes in growing and crafting organic tea blends, whole-food chocolates, and plant-based snacks, all rooted in permaculture ethics and sustainable practices.

For more information, visit Big Black Tea's website and Goodness Tea's website.

Sophia Gaité
Atem Group., Inc
email us here

Shaelee Evans showcasing Goodness Tea's organic products at a local farmers market.

The Goodness Tea logo, representing their commitment to farm-to-cup wellness and sustainability.

The Big Black Tea logo, embodying simplicity, boldness, and elegance.

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/774129246>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2025 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.