

Jason Ruedy, of The Home Loan Arranger, says Pittsburgh Residents Should Consider Buying Homes Now Before Rates Drop

Jason Ruedy encourages residents of Pittsburgh to capitalize on the current sellers' market and achieve homeownership before mortgage rates decline

PITTSBURGH, PA, UNITED STATES, January 8, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jason Ruedy, President and CEO of The Home Loan Arranger and a top mortgage broker, says that as the real estate market in Pittsburgh continues to favor sellers, residents should seize the opportunity to make their dream of homeownership a reality. With the potential for lower mortgage rates on the horizon, Ruedy believes now is the time to act before the housing market becomes even more competitive.

According to Ruedy, lower mortgage rates could have a significant impact on the housing market, potentially speeding up the buying process and causing home prices to continue to rise”

According to Ruedy, lower mortgage rates could have a significant impact on the housing market, potentially speeding up the buying process and causing home prices to continue to rise. This could make it even more challenging for first-time homebuyers to enter the market or for current homeowners to upgrade to a larger or more desirable property. Ruedy warns that waiting too long could result in missed opportunities and higher costs in the future.

One of the biggest barriers for first-time homebuyers is the down payment, which can be a significant financial burden. However, Ruedy points out that with the 100% purchase product, first-time homebuyers no longer have to save for a down payment. This program allows buyers to finance the entire purchase price of their home, making it easier for them to enter the market and secure their dream home.

Ruedy believes that homeownership is a crucial step towards building wealth and financial stability. With the current conditions in the Pittsburgh real estate market, he urges residents to take advantage of the sellers market and secure homeownership before mortgage rates potentially drop. By acting now, individuals can avoid the risk of being priced out of the market and achieve their homeownership goals.

As the market continues to favor sellers, Ruedy's advice serves as a timely reminder for Pittsburgh residents to take action and secure their future through homeownership. With the 100% purchase product available, first-time homebuyers can overcome the hurdle of a down payment and make their homeownership dreams a reality. Don't wait, act now and take advantage of the current market conditions before it's too late.
