

1611 Production House Releases Surreal Short Film

MEDICINE HAT, ALBERTA, CANADA, January 5, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 1611 Production House, a southern Alberta-based music and video production company, is pleased to announce the release of a new short film. The film is an interpretation of "The Grand Inquisitor" by Fyodor Dostoevsky. 1611 Production House has been working diligently to bring this surreal vision of artist Kyle G Barber to market.

An Empty Street in the Holographic Reality

The film has a runtime of about twenty minutes and covers an immense amount of philosophical and spiritual ground. With a combination of the words of Dostoevsky, surreal visual elements and a haunting soundtrack provided by the Eastern Tantric Method, this interpretation of "The Grand Inquisitor" shows that 1611 Production House is dedicated to providing satisfying intellectual entertainment to those who are willing to think in new ways.

“

My hope is that this short film will inspire people to use the material that is available to them in the production of their own creative endeavors,”

Kyle G Barber
