secret hedge fund proprietary trading strategy as part of this new appointment. This strategy, which boasts a 73% 2024 performance, will be available to all partners—a testament to his commitment and alignment with LemVega's long-term vision for success. Michael's wealth of experience also includes founding Elm Equity Partners and holding key positions at prestigious institutions such as Tradeweb Markets and Goldman Sachs.

"I am deeply grateful to Caroline for her vision and leadership, which have been truly inspirational. I am proud to join forces more formally as we expand on her remarkable vision for LemVega together, now and beyond. The firm has an extraordinary vision for the future of investment management, and I am excited to deepen my collaboration with Caroline and the entire LemVega team. Together, we will harness our collective strengths to drive transformative growth and innovation. The investment ecosystem in Puerto Rico holds immense potential, and I look forward to contributing to its flourishing," stated Michael.

As Vice Chairman, Michael will spearhead LemVega's global hedge fund strategies, providing strategic leadership to enhance investment capabilities for both limited and general partners. His elevation represents a structured approach to aligning LemVega's strategies, operations, and divisions to create a robust foundation for revenue growth and partner success. With Michael's unmatched expertise, forward-thinking leadership, and extensive international network, LemVega is poised to redefine excellence in investment management and solidify its global footprint.

"Michael's leadership, experience, and network are invaluable assets to LemVega," said Caroline. "This enhanced formal partnership reinforces our vision and provides immense value as we chart LemVega's growth together. Together, we are ready to achieve a prosperous 2025 and beyond."
