

DR. JAY ZIGMONT SPEAKS ON FINANCIAL PLANNING FOR THE “KIDLESS” -- IN SANTA MONICA ON JANUARY 11

Why does our financial planning system fail to account for people who don't plan to have kids?

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, January 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Dr. Jay Zigmont speaks this Saturday, January 11, 2025 at a book talk for a growing number of Americans investing for themselves – not their children. “The American financial system is designed for parents leaving a legacy for their children. But that doesn’t work for millions of couples and singles without kids,” says Zigmont.

Dr. Jay's talk is presented by PARALLEL Social Club, the groundbreaking new community for DINKS (dual-income, no kids) and SINKs (single, no kids), and focuses on his newly released book, The Childfree Guide to Life and Money. The event is free, with advance registration required.

People are told they need to die with money in the bank. We show them how to live a great, financially secure life and die with zero.”
