About The Game

3 years in development this is the culmination of arduous work from the talented team of Broken Brains.

Mine Scene

Young and talented swordswoman Alex tinkers with her newly developed gadgets and leaves her village to experiment with her newest creation. She returns to a horrific scene engulfed in flames and slaughter, with the perpetrators trying to flee. These crimes cannot go unpunished.

Enter the City

Face off against an oppressive and classist government to seek retribution for the unproved murder of your people in an intense & action-packed Victorian/Steampunk City. Follow Alex's battle in this multi-chapter story and exact revenge upon those who have destroyed her life.

Adrenaline-packed Combat

Master the blade and the effects of various crystals that empower your sword and grant you combat abilities. Launch yourself into massive combat encounters and clear them out before the whole city turns on you. Use your combos to decimate any enemy that dares to oppose you effectively.

Who are Broken Brains?

We're a team of developers, graphic artists, and musicians based in Dublin, Ireland. The team formed during their work together in college at TU Dublin. Crystal Edge—Retribution is their first release, and it's impressive.
