

Saint Paul Commodities Honors Bailey Feed Mill of Selma, NC, with the 2024 Excellence in Partnership Award

BLOOMINGTON, MN, UNITED STATES, January 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Saint Paul Commodities (SPC) is proud to recognize Bailey Feed Mill with the 2024 Excellence in Partnership Award, celebrating their critical contributions to SPC's operations and their unwavering commitment to collaboration and excellence.

A cornerstone of SPC's supply chain, Bailey Feed Mill plays a pivotal role as a strategic transload facility, ensuring the seamless and reliable delivery of products to market. This partnership has recently expanded to include SPC's new Blending Terminal in Selma, NC, which is slated to be fully operational by May 2025. The terminal represents a significant step forward in strengthening supply chain capabilities and enhancing service for SPC's customers.

SPC leadership, including Anthony Pellegrino (Vice President of Operations), Ben Olson (Director of Merchandising) and Spencer Schreiner (Director of Operations), had the honor of presenting the award to Douglas Daniel and Albert Daniel, owners of Bailey Feed Mill.

This award reflects SPC's heartfelt appreciation for Bailey Feed Mill's steadfast support, innovative problem-solving, and dedication to mutual success. Together, this partnership serves as a strong foundation for future growth, and SPC looks forward to continuing this journey of shared achievement.
