

Circle Locker announces strategic partnership with Harbor Lockers by Luxer One

Circle Locker offers the first metro-wide on-demand public locker network for ecommerce returns, neighbor-to-neighbor exchanges, and donations.

BROOMFIELD, CO, UNITED STATES, January 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Circle Locker announces its strategic partnership with Harbor Lockers, a division of smart locker manufacturer Luxer One. Harbor Lockers has provided over 30 smart lockers, a commitment valued at over $250,000, to expand the Circle Locker brand across the Denver & Boulder metro area. Circle Locker offers the public convenient drop-off of ecommerce returns, and neighbor-to-neighbor exchanges of items sold or donated on Nextdoor, Facebook Marketplace, and Craigslist at its Circle Locker locations.

"We're deploying over 30 Circle Lockers across the Denver/Boulder metro area for the holiday return season and beyond," says Jack Bonneau, founder of both Circle Locker and Teen Hustl. "By having more drop-off locations, we're able to make returns and neighbor-to-neighbor exchanges more convenient, faster, and safer for the public while reducing the carbon footprint of returns and exchanges."

"We're very excited to work with Circle Locker," says Van Tucker, VP of Technology Partnerships of Harbor Lockers. "Circle Locker has been one of our top Build Partners at Harbor for over 18 months; their model and execution have been impressive and are one of the major reasons we've made such a significant early commitment to them."

In addition, Circle Locker works with local teens through Teen Hustl, a company founded by Jack in high school. Teen Hustl offers at-home pickup and delivery of returns and exchanges by local neighborhood teens on eco-friendly personal bikes and e-bikes/trikes.

"By making returns and exchanges more convenient, safer, and sustainable, we're encouraging and helping to power the circular economy, hence our name, Circle Locker," says Jack Bonneau. "Our vision for 2025 is to have over 200 Circle Locker locations across the metro area and begin our national expansion outside of Colorado."

About Circle Locker

Circle Locker (www.CircleLocker.com) is a publicly available locker network where consumers can conveniently drop off their ecommerce returns and safely drop off and pick up items sold or donated on Facebook Marketplace, Nextdoor.com, and Craigslist. Our mission is to create a public locker network with convenient services and offerings which encourage and support the circular economy.

About Teen Hustl

Teen Hustl is a neighborhood logistics service provided by local teens. Teen Hustl offers a more reliable, efficient, eco-friendly logistics service through local teens on personal bikes, eScooters, and electric bikes/trikes. Our mission is to bring back the opportunities that teens and youth had decades ago through neighborhood newspaper delivery through local paper routes but updated for today's Gig Economy.
