The Kingdom Day Committee made the postponement decision to ensure that emergency resources, including fire and law enforcement personnel, remain fully available to address the crisis. “We want to ensure our city’s emergency agencies can continue to serve the communities that need them most,” said Dr. Adrian Dove, Chairman and Executive Producer of the Kingdom Day Parade.

“This decision reflects our respect and compassion for those affected by this monumental tragedy,” added Dr. Dove. “Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. stood for service and love for our neighbors. In his honor, CORE-CA joins countless Angelenos in supporting relief efforts and encourages everyone to contribute where they can.”

Commitment to Community Service

The parade’s leadership, including President and Event Producer Sabra Waddy, emphasized their dedication to aiding those in need during this difficult time. The organization is actively participating in relief efforts across the affected areas, demonstrating a steadfast commitment to service beyond celebration.

Although postponed, this year’s theme, “Peace and Unity: Let It Start With Us,” remains profoundly significant. It reminds us of the resilience and strength found in unity as communities come together to support one another.

The Kingdom Day Committee extends heartfelt gratitude to emergency responders, community leaders, and volunteers tirelessly working to aid those impacted. “We look forward to gathering soon to celebrate Dr. King's enduring legacy of peace, unity, and service," said Sabra Waddy, KDP President and Event Producer.
