

A New Era in Door Hardware: Wright Products Introduces Five New Styles for Today's Storm and Screen Doors

Wright Products adds sleek, contemporary designs with enhanced security features, catering to homeowners and contractors alike who seek style and reliability

FOOTHILL RANCH, CA, UNITED STATES, January 15, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Wright Products, the leader in residential screen and storm door hardware, today unveiled five new products designed to meet the demands of today's homeowners. These new additions to the Wright Products portfolio feature sleek, contemporary designs and enhanced security features, catering to homeowners and contractors alike who seek both style and reliability. Wright Products are designed to be compatible with the most common storm and screen doors, making upgrades and repairs easy and convenient.

"For more than 90 years, homeowners have trusted Wright to provide quality products that secure and protect their home without compromising the look they want," said Lindsey Gant, Senior Marketing Manager. "These contemporary designs not only meet the design preferences of today's modern homeowners but also ensure the reliability and security that Wright Products is known for. Our team is dedicated to providing high-quality solutions that combine style, function, and ease of use."

Ventana Mortise Leverset

The Ventana Mortise Leverset features a sleek straight lever design, perfect for contemporary homes. It is designed for out-swinging metal and wood doors with thicknesses ranging from 1.125 inches to 2 inches. The non-handed design allows for versatility in installation on both left and right-handed doors. With a built-in keyed deadbolt lock mechanism, the Ventana offers

Alto Line

Wright is also introducing a new, contemporary style, Alto. Available in both a free-hanging and tie-down application, the Alto handles are designed for use on most storm or screen doors with 1-3/4 inch hole spacing. It is suitable for out-swinging metal and wood doors with thicknesses between 0.75 inches and 1.25 inches. The tie-down feature ensures enhanced stability and durability, while the "No Lock Out" technology provides peace of mind. The Alto installs in three 5/16-inch holes, and all necessary hardware is included.

Say Goodbye to Lockouts

Each of the new surface latches (Lena, Alto and Altura) feature Wright's innovative "No Lock Out" technology, ensuring residents never get accidentally locked out. Even if the lock is engaged before closing the door, the mechanism automatically disengages the lock as the door closes, giving residents peace of mind and convenience every time.
