

Voices of Note Presents an Unforgettable Spring 2025 Concert Season

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, January 16, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Voices of Note, the parent organization of the Atlanta Women's Chorus (AWC) and the Atlanta Gay Men's Chorus (AGMC), proudly announces its highly anticipated Spring 2025 concert season. This milestone season marks the first time in a decade that the two choruses will unite on stage, delivering performances that celebrate individuality, resilience, and the transformative power of music. The season features three captivating events: This is Me, Broadway Sideways, and Disney PRIDE in Concert. Each performance is crafted to inspire, connect, and celebrate diversity in all its forms.

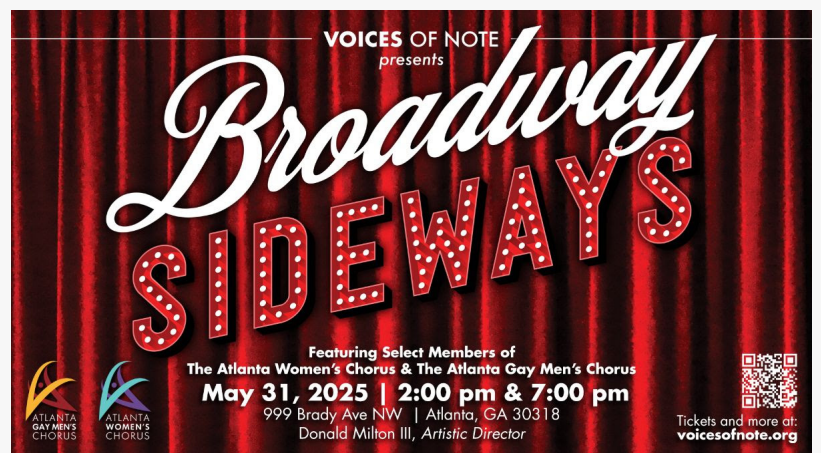

Under the artistic direction of Dr. Melissa Arasi (AWC) and Donald Milton III (AGMC), This is Me will be a monumental collaboration, showcasing the voices of over 250 singers from both choruses. Set within the historic and welcoming Glenn Memorial United Methodist Church at Emory University, this inspiring performance will explore themes of self-acceptance, community, and human connection.

joy—messages that deeply resonate with the LGBTQ community. Partnering with Disney and the ASO allows us to amplify these stories in a way that inspires and empowers audiences across Atlanta.”

Proceeds from This is Me and Disney PRIDE in Concert will benefit AQuAA and other queer arts-based organizations, funding innovative programs and research that uplift LGBTQ voices and stories.

“Disney’s music reflects so many journeys within the LGBTQ community—characters striving to belong, finding joy despite adversity, and redefining family,” said David Aurilio, Executive Director of Voices of Note. “We’re thrilled to bring these connections to life through the magic of Disney and to continue empowering our community through music.”
