MINATO-KU, TOKYO, JAPAN, January 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Digital Ambassador Project, which aims to promote the charms of Japan to the world, is selling NFT ART featuring Japan's most famous cosplayers, Enako, Shinonome Umi, Shinozaki Kokoro, Eiri, Miyamoto Saki, and Yokyun, photographed at World Heritage and Japan Heritage.

- In Uda City, the birthplace of Japanese swords, costumes inspired by the national treasure Kogarasumaru.
- Armor of a Sengoku samurai who fought at Shirahata Castle, where only 2,000 people defended against an attack by 60,000 men.
- At Muro Ryuketsu Shrine, where prayers were offered in the 770s for the recovery of the crown prince (later Emperor Kanmu) from illness and where he was successfully cured, costumes were inspired by the dragon goddess of the sky.

We received special permission to take photos at World Heritage Sites and Japanese Heritage Sites where photography is generally prohibited.

After the photos were taken, the NFT ART was blessed at a shrine, and the power of many gods was imbued in it, bringing various success to its owner.
