Aria Reserve is redefining residential sophistication with its seamless blend of nature, cutting-edge design, and luxurious living. The project's striking glass towers are perched on five acres of waterfront land along Biscayne Bay, offering residents panoramic views of the bay, the Atlantic Ocean, and the iconic Miami Beach skyline.

"This is an exciting moment for the Aria Reserve project as we continue to build towards a groundbreaking new chapter in Miami's luxury living," said Carlos Melo, from The Melo Group. "The North Tower's rapid progress is a testament to the strong demand and vision behind this development, which integrates modern architecture with nature's beauty to create a truly serene and exclusive residential experience."

Aria Reserve stands as a first-of-its-kind fusion of design and nature, offering a private oasis amidst the vibrant Edgewater neighborhood. The towers' sleek modern architecture, complemented by lush gardens and state-of-the-art amenities, elevates the concept of a life well-lived. Residents will enjoy over two acres of exceptional open-air amenities, including a stunning pool deck, wellness center, and more, ensuring an unparalleled living experience.

About Aria Reserve Miami:

Aria Reserve is a luxury condominium development currently underway by The Melo Group in Miami's Edgewater neighborhood. The development features two 62-story towers and will become the tallest waterfront dual residential towers in the United States. Located at 700 NE 24th Street along Biscayne Bay, Aria Reserve boasts 383 residences in its first tower designed by Arquitectonica, with a projected completion in Q1 2025. The development promises an enviable bayfront location, breathtaking views, and world-class amenities.
