Surge in demand for low-cost IT infrastructure, rise in need of faster data accessibility and reliability, increase in the number of small & medium businesses in various countries across the globe, and rapid growth of cloud technology are expected to drive the growth of the global hosting infrastructure services market. Increase in the number of smartphone users, surge in internet penetration, and growth of the e-commerce sector during the pandemic had a positive impact on the market.

Hosted services are applications, IT infrastructure components or functions that organizations access from external service providers, typically through an internet connection. Hosted services cover a wide spectrum of offerings, including web hosting, off-site backup, and virtual desktops. Cloud services also fall within the hosted services category, although not every hosted service resides in the cloud. A customer, for example, may access an application from a hosting provider's dedicated server. Hosting infrastructure services provides a combination of IT solutions such as web development, web hosting and email, infrastructure, and application, over the internet. It helps organizations to reduce operational cost that they incur to set up enterprise infrastructure.
